

Attachment B: Addressing Accommodation Requests from High-Risk Students Returning to Campus

Texas Tech University is taking considerable measures to provide effective social distancing and sanitation protocols as we prepare to return to campus in the Fall. We need to be mindful that, because of underlying health conditions, some students will be at higher risk for COVID-19. Other students, although healthy themselves, might live with someone who has compromising health conditions. Students in one or both of these two categories might request accommodations or alternatives to fulfill course requirements to avoid potential exposure to the virus.

The Office of the Provost authorizes instructors of record (IoRs), in coordination with their department chairs, academic advisors, and academic associate deans, with the flexibility necessary to make instructional accommodations for students to avoid exposure to COVID-19. Accommodations might include, as examples, alternatives to face-to-face group assignments, remote learning such as online instruction or off-site activities, changing to an online section of the same course or to an independent study with the same learning objectives as the original course, or approval of a substitute course that is offered online and can fulfill the same degree requirements of the original course.

Keep in mind the following criteria when considering making an accommodation for a student: (1) whether the requested accommodation would make a substantive alteration of the course material or objectives; (2) whether the accommodation provides an equally effective alternative to the original objectives or activities of the class; and (3) whether the accommodation can be uniformly applied should more than one student request it. If the IoR can satisfactorily address these three requirements for accommodation, and is comfortable providing it, then it is appropriate to do so. If the IOR feels unable to provide accommodation that satisfies these three criteria or is unsure how the requested accommodation can be provided, the IoR is encouraged to contact their academic associate dean's office for guidance. Students should also be advised to follow the steps for reporting illness-related absences outlined on the Dean of Students COVID-19 webpage.

If a high-risk student asks for a substantial alteration to the essential elements of the class, then the IoR, advisor, or associate dean should suggest that the student work with SDS to provide a Letter of Accommodation (LOA).
